

Virginia League Elects President

J. O. Boatwright Is Selected on Thirteenth Ballot at Annual Meeting at Norfolk.

SUFFOLK SUCCEEDS ROANOKE

Season in Two Sections, to Open April 22 and Close September 6.

At the regular annual meeting of the Virginia League held in the Monticello Hotel, Norfolk, Va., yesterday, J. O. Boatwright was re-elected president for one year. The Roanoke franchise was transferred to Suffolk and the Norfolk club was awarded the pennant and cup for winning the championship the year.

The meeting was not a love feast by any means, and for a time it looked as if there would be no action on the president, but after an adjournment of an hour the magnates got together with the result above stated. The meeting opened at 1:30 o'clock with Boatwright in the chair and every club represented, as follows:

Richmond, by C. E. Bradley.
Petersburg, by R. T. Wilson.
Roanoke, by H. C. Elliott.
Portsmouth, by F. C. Hanrahan.
Newport News, by Roy Charles.
Recording-Secretary T. Woodall then read the minutes of the previous meeting held in Richmond, July 2, which was adopted as read, after which the directors went into executive session, which lasted from 2 until 5 o'clock. It was in this session that league matters were threshed out and there were many heated arguments, according to word brought from the room, after the session, Vice-President Elliott took the chair and Boatwright withdrew from the room.

During the executive session the transfer of the Roanoke franchise to Suffolk was ratified and C. F. Taylor was admitted to the conference.

An amendment to the constitution was adopted, which will, in the future, allow only three players of a higher classification to be in the line-up of any team, this does not include the manager, and will give each club owner four seasoned players, should he desire to carry that many.

FOUR CANDIDATES PLACED IN NOMINATION

Nominations were called for the office of president, and the following names were placed before the meeting: Corprew, of Norfolk.

Boatwright, of Danville.
Herbert, of Portsmouth.
Locke, of Newport News.

The first four ballots resulted as follows: Boatwright, 2; Corprew, 2; Herbert, 1; Locke, 1.

On the fifth ballot Wilson, of Petersburg, was elected vice-president, and he secured the votes of Petersburg and Newport News. On the sixth ballot Corprew received three votes; Bowe, two, and Locke, one. The seventh ballot resulted the same way, then came the great battle. On the eighth, ninth and tenth ballots Richmond, Petersburg and Newport News were the only clubs left in the running, and on the eleventh ballot W. M. Hanlan took Corprew's place, supported by the same trio, while Boatwright, who had been elected president, the deadlock continued through the twelfth, only Corprew's adherents coming back to his standard.

CHAIRMAN ELLIOTT

By this time Chairman Elliott began to show impatience, and announced that, as there seemed to be little chance of an agreement being reached, the matter of selecting a leader be laid over until the next meeting. This announcement was met with a hasty conference, and both sides argued hard for their favorites. Secretary Woodall announced that unless there was a selection, Boatwright would be elected successor was elected.

Walker, who represented Norfolk, called for another vote, and the directors then voted for Boatwright, closing what threatened to be a deadlock.

Boatwright was sent for, and was informed that he had been re-elected, and in a meeting he was elected president, with the co-operation of the directors to make the coming season the best that the league has ever experienced. He also asked the club owners to aid him by holding the players in check, and to back him in his decisions, which would be for the best interest of all concerned.

After Boatwright had taken his seat, H. C. Elliott was elected vice-president, and a motion was made that the season open April 22 and close September 6, 1915, that the season be divided into two sections, the winner of the first section play the second section winner of the second section of seven games or until one team should win four games.

ANNUAL SCHEDULE MEETING

The meeting adjourned, and the Newport News for the adoption of a playing schedule, the meeting being subject to the call of the president. During the session it was decided that each club provide turnstiles at each entrance to their respective parks, and the machines be installed prior to the opening of the season.

The meeting was a thoroughly business one, there being no side issues or matters discussed. Only one recess was taken, between 5 and 6 o'clock, and then only to allow the members to satisfy the inner man. Promptly at the latter hour the magnates re-assembled, and it was 7:15 when the majority of the owners taking the 8 o'clock train for their respective homes.

President Boatwright came to Richmond to spend the night, and will leave for his home early this morning. If Boatwright carries out the program mapped out, there will be very little cause to complain, as he will get a new set of umpires, and will see that all are capable men.

ON MUDDY FIELD, VIRGINIA DEFEATS GEORGIA, 28 TO 0

3,000 Spectators, Including Girls From Randolph-Macon and Sweet-Briar Colleges, Witness Game.

GOOCH'S RUNS SPECTACULAR

Virginia's Quarter Back Does Brilliant Work—Capt. Mayer Carries Ball Over for Two Touchdowns in First and Second Quarters.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., October 24.—The annual clash with the University of Georgia, heralded as Virginia's big home game, ended with practically the same result as did the content here with Vanderbilt one year ago—an easy victory for the Virginians, the score standing 28 to 0. The contest was played on a gridiron made muddy by a drizzling rain which fell throughout the morning and lasted until the game was half over.

Three thousand people were in the stadium, including 500 girls from Randolph-Macon and Sweet-Briar Colleges. Many alumni were on hand and they together with the undergraduates, kept things lively despite the wretched weather.

The game was harder fought than the score would indicate, both eleven exhibiting flashes of good football at times. Virginia made all of her touchdowns in the first half, Captain Mayer carrying the ball across twice in the first period and twice in the second. After a stiff talk from Coach Cunningham during the intermission, the Georgians came back strong and were "lari to the finish, bitterly contesting every inch gained by the home team. The best Orange and Blue could do in the remaining thirty minutes of play was to register the safety. Broyles being downed back of his goal line after he had fumbled the pass momentarily. The play was almost exactly similar to the safety made by Georgetown against Virginia last fall and was due principally to the slippery turf.

Georgia's reversal of form in the second half came as quite a surprise to the crowd, who had hoped to see Virginia equal North Carolina's score against Georgia. The Crackers had evidently sized up Virginia's attack, which did not appear to have sufficient power to break through the back-back, double pass and end run, from kick formation, would not work any longer. Though Georgia's goal was several times threatened, the visitors braced themselves and the ball on downs at critical moments.

Gooch Makes Thirty-Yard Run

Virginia got the jump early in the game, Gooch reeling off a thirty-yard run around Georgia's right end. Without once losing the ball, a touchdown was scored in the first quarter. The line plunges by Mayer and Sparr, Barker failed to kick goal. Virginia, kicked off to Holmden, on Georgia's thirty-yard line. Captain Mayer, in three attempts to penetrate Virginia's line, failed to get the ball over the line. Harris punted to Gooch on Virginia's forty-yard line. Spectacular dashes by Mayer, interspersed with a double pass, netted the second quarter.

Mayer's try at goal failed. The second quarter opened with the pickin in Virginia's possession on her thirty-five-yard line. A double pass, near to White, and two yards, Gooch dashed through the line for ten, Mayer carried the ball over. Mayer kicked goal.

Virginia soon rushed the ball down the field again, but a forward pass across the goal line was not completed, and Georgia recovered the ball on her twenty-four-yard line.

Broyles fumbled the first play, and Mayer fell on the ball on Georgia's thirty-five-yard line. Four plays netted a touchdown, and Mayer again booted the ball between the uprights. In the short time remaining before the half ended, Paddock sprinted twenty yards around Virginia's right end while the band was playing "Dixie."

Georgia's best offensive work occurred near the end of the first quarter, when the ball was advanced from her twenty-yard line to Virginia's forty-yard line, where it was lost on downs. Gooch punted out of bounds near the field, and Georgia again reached Virginia's forty-yard line, could go no further. Gooch, on a fake kick, made the most spectacular run of the day, going fifty yards before being forced back by a double pass. Mayer's touchdown in sight, Gooch, on the dead run made a poor pass to Flanagan. Peacock fell on the ball on Virginia's twenty-five-yard line.

Georgia's offensive was double pass, but it was fumbled. Walker recovered the ball on Georgia's ten-yard line, but Virginia lacked the punch, and Georgia punted out of danger. Broyles attempted to punt from behind Georgia's goal line, but as he fumbled the ball he was pounced upon for a safety. Before the whistle ended the game, Georgia's goal was threatened, but Gooch attempted a field goal, but failed.

The work of both quarter backs was of a high order, and each was liberally cheered by the stands. Captain Mayer, punter, the best game of his career. Evans played brilliantly at center, despite a bad shoulder. Barker starred up to the time he was forced to retire with an injured knee.

Summary: Touchdowns—Mayer, 4; Gooch, 2; Safety—Broyles, thrown by Flanagan. Referee, Barry, Georgetown. Umpire, Brooks, Georgetown. Head Lineup, Flanagan, Davidson. Substitutions—Mayer, Flanagan, for White, Burnett for E. Anderson, Walker for Sparr, G. ## ROANOKE COLLEGE HOLDS V. P. I. TO 7-TO-7 SCORE

Game Was Played on Slippery Field, With Roanokers on Defensive in Three Quarters.

BONHAM'S PLUNGES EFFECTIVE

Line Plunges by Collegians Enabled Kriger to Make Touchdown and Then Kick Goal—Forward Pass and Franklin's Run Score for V. P. I.

BLACKSBURG, Va., October 24.—The Roanoke College football team held V. P. I. to a 7 to 7 tie score here today. The game was played on a slippery field, and the visitors were on the defense during most of three quarters. In the first quarter, V. P. I. kicked off to Roanoke College's ten-yard line. Bonham plunged fifteen yards, Roanoke College immediately began a series of line plunges, in which the work of Bonham, their full back, figured largely. They carried the ball to the Techs' forty-yard line, where they lost it on downs. Franklin punted forty-five yards, Bunting returning twenty. From here the ball was worked back and fourth during the remainder of the quarter. The period ended with it in the possession of the Techs on their thirty-five-yard line.

In the succeeding quarter, Roanoke College held for downs, and after several plays was forced to punt. The Techs punted in their turn, and the ball was again brought up within V. P. I. territory. Here an attempted forward pass, which fell on the line, gave the ball to the Techs. Franklin again punted, and it was Roanoke College's ball on the Techs' thirty-yard line. In the last quarter, Bonham carried the ball for eight successive downs, Kriger carried the ball over for a touchdown. Kriger kicked the goal.

In the fifth quarter, Roanoke College's fifteen-yard line, Bonham turning ten yards. The series of line plays netted Roanoke College two first downs, when they were penalized for fumbling. In the next down they fumbled, and Vaughn-Lloyd recovered for V. P. I.

A well-instituted forward pass—Engleby to Franklin—was completed, the latter running thirty yards for a touchdown. Saunders kicked goal. V. P. I. kicked off to Roanoke College, and the half ended with the ball in the visitors' territory.

In the second half the Techs took the offensive and kept the ball within the opponents' forty-yard line most of the time. They were once within two yards of goal, but Roanoke College held for downs. In the last quarter, Harvey was sent in, but a twenty-yard drop kick went wild, and the game ended without further scoring.

For Roanoke College, J. B. Bonham carried the ball for most of the game. For V. P. I., Funchouser, Saunders and Vaughn-Lloyd played best. Line-up:

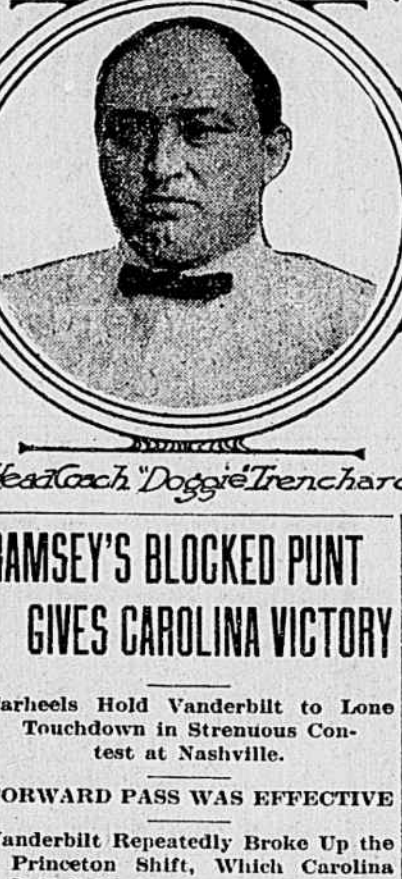

V. P. I. Position. R. C. Taylor, left tackle; Bonham, left guard; Benedict, center; O'Flaherty, right guard; Kellenger, right half back; Duncan, left half back; Franklin, right end; Harman, left end; Bunting, full back; Kriger, right half back; Hoffman, left half back; Bonham, full back. ## RAMSEY'S BLOCKED PUNT GIVES CAROLINA VICTORY

FORWARD PASS WAS EFFECTIVE

Vanderbilt Repeatedly Broke Up the Princeton Shift, Which Carolina Relied Upon Almost Exclusively.

NASHVILLE, TENN., October 24.—A blocked punt by Ramsey on Vanderbilt's ten-yard line, which fell on over North Carolina's goal line in the third quarter, gave the Tarheels a 10 to 9 victory over the Commodores in one of the hardest-fought games ever witnessed on Dudley Field. Tandy kicked goal in the first quarter, and the Commodores scored three points for North Carolina in the second period on a drop kick from the ten-yard line. Vanderbilt's lone touchdown came in the second quarter on a beautiful Carlyle-van der Curry, which carried the Tarheels' left end, which was followed by a forward pass which carried the Commodores' line back to the ten-yard line. Carman crashed through center for the first touchdown of the game, and the second made. Curry missed an easy goal which had proved the turning point of the game.

Cody's drop kick from the thirty-five-yard line, which fell on over North Carolina's goal line, gave the Commodores a 9 to 0 lead. The Commodores threatened the Tarheels' goal line once, when Carman carried the ball to the ten-yard line on a split play. While the Commodores blew and the proper play the whistle sounded, and the quarter ended. Both teams displayed a stubborn resistance, and from a spectator's point of view, the game was one of the most interesting and brilliant ever seen on a football field. Vanderbilt surprised the Tarheels with a forward pass to advantage, using the game progressed the heavy weight of the Commodores' line back to tell upon the Commodores, who tried desperately to rally, but were repulsed. The forward pass frequently. The final quarter was played in semi-darkness, and the Tarheels had difficulty in following the ball.

Vanderbilt rushed the ball for a great deal of the game, and North Carolina gained frequently on exchange of punts and repeatedly broke up the Tarheels' line. The Tarheels' line, which Carolina relied almost exclusively. Taylor and Parker were the offensive stars for Vanderbilt, which they carried on the defensive, spilled Vanderbilt's plays for great losses. Carman and Sikes performed brilliantly for Vanderbilt, the latter's broken field run being the feature of the game. Sikes, who was reinstated a short time after being dropped from the team, and was removed from the game in the second quarter. He returned in the third quarter, and was reinstated in the fourth quarter. The line-up: Vanderbilt. Position. N. C. Ramsey, left tackle; Taylor, left guard; Benedict, center; O'Flaherty, right guard; Kellenger, right half back; Duncan, left half back; Franklin, right end; Harman, left end; Bunting, full back; Kriger, right half back; Hoffman, left half back; Bonham, full back. Substitutes for V. P. I.—Full back, Saunders; half back, Harvey; Perry, Macon; left end, Vaughn-Lloyd; Rivers, Cottrell; left guard, Summerville. Touchdowns—Kriger and Franklin. Goals from touchdowns—Kriger and Saunders. Referee, Mr. Miles. Umpire, Mr. Hodgson. Headline, Mr. McKenn. Times of quarters, 15 minutes. Score, V. P. I., 7; Roanoke College, 7.

R. A. A. F. PERFECTS PLANS FOR BASKETBALL SEASON

Teams in Classes A, B, C and D Are Arranged for Short Season Opening November 19.

WILL USE FOUR BIG COURTS

Howitzers, Gray, Blues and McGills Will Each Have Two Teams—A. A. U. Rules May Govern—Sunday Schools May Also Organize Teams.

The first meeting of the Richmond Amateur Athletic Federation basketball committee was held at the Blues' Army Friday evening at 5 o'clock. The following were present: F. S. Tousey, of the Church Civic Association, acting chairman; R. E. Hotze, Jr., secretary; Messrs. Ryan, Coleman, Crump, Rowe, Seay, Miles, Epps, Haw, Hargrove, representing the following organizations: Howitzers, Blues, Gray, McGills, Seminary, Virginia Athletic Association and Barton Heights.

A tentative plan of the make up of the leagues was submitted, and discussed in detail, and, unless there is a better plan offered, the leagues will stand as follows:

Class A—Richmond Howitzers, Richmond Grays, Richmond Blues, Union Theological Seminary, Barton Heights, Class B—McGills Union, Artillery (Howitzers), Infantry (Blues), Church Hill Athletic Club. Class C—Medical College, Benedictine, First National, Fairmount Athletic Association. Class D—Regiment (Grays), McGills' Second, Highland Park, Barton Heights.

Where They Will Play. Howitzers, Gray, Blues and McGills will each have two teams, making four teams in each league. The Artillery, Benedictine, Highland Park, Grays' Court—Grays, Regiment, Medical College, Church Hill Athletic Club, Blues' Court—Blues, Infantry, Fairmount Athletic Association, Barton Heights. McGills' Court—McGills' First, McGills' Second, First National, Seminary, Howitzers, Grays, Blues and McGills will each have two teams, making four teams in each league, and by courtesy they will each entertain two other teams in its league, making six teams for each team in each league, taking five weeks to complete the season. The schedule is being two games in one week in December.

This proposition was somewhat of an innovation for basketball rules, and the majority of the men felt that the A. A. U. rules would meet the approval of the basketball community, rather than the inter-collegiate rules of a combination of both, as was tried last season. This point has not been definitely settled, but will be at the committee meeting on Tuesday.

Every team mentioned in the make-up of the above leagues for the season of 1914-15 is requested to send their captain and manager to the meeting of the federation, which will be held at the Blues' Army on Wednesday, October 28th, at 8 o'clock sharp.

A. A. U. Rules to Be Used. While the committee did not go into full details of the basketball rules, the majority of the men felt that the A. A. U. rules would meet the approval of the basketball community, rather than the inter-collegiate rules of a combination of both, as was tried last season. This point has not been definitely settled, but will be at the committee meeting on Tuesday.

Playing Nights. Instead of trying to play all games on Sunday, the committee has decided to make the playing nights Thursday, Friday and Saturday, to meet the convenience of the home courts and home teams.

The teams which control their own courts will be given the home at home and one game away from home, but the teams who are guests of other teams may be asked to play on other courts than the one designated, in case the schedule should at any time conflict with games of the home teams on their own courts. This was done last year.

Sunday School League. Several Sunday schools have been talking of having teams, but no representatives were present at the meeting of the committee. In case four or more Sunday school classes make application to the basketball committee, that committee will try to arrange courts for the league to play on.

WASHINGTON AND LEE TROUNCES WAKE FOREST

Carolnians Could Not Cope With the Terrific Line Plunges of the Generals at Lexington.

BEUHRING'S WORK FEATURES

Generals' Full Back, Aided by Young and Donahue's Long Runs and Milner's Work, Holds Wake Forest Scoreless—Several Players Hurt.

LEXINGTON, VA., October 24.—Washington and Lee scored the fifth successive triumph by overwhelming Wake Forest by the score of 72 to 0. Although the Carolnians were but slightly over weighed, they could not cope with the sweeping runs and terrific line plunges of the Generals. Three touchdowns were registered in the opening period and the game continued in the three other quarters. Beuhring's crashing line plunges, Donahue and Young's long runs and Milner's playing featured the contest.

The battle was characterized by rough tactics followed by subsequent penalties. Both teams made frequent substitutions, injuries forcing some of the players out. Young and Donahue were forced to retire with injuries at different stages of the game. The first touchdown came when Gallagher scored right end, for sixteen yards, following a series of plunges by Beuhring and Donahue. Donahue scored the second with a five-yard run, following a blocked punt, while Beuhring added the third on a plunge, following long end runs by Donahue. In this period long runs by Donahue followed the big full back scored the fourth in the second period, following a series of line plunges and the fifth on a set back. The sixth was scored by Beuhring, who scored the sixth with a short plunge following the recovery of a fumbled punt by Wake Forest.

The last half was even more bitterly contested, interrupted by frequent squabbles with the referee. Beuhring scored the first touchdown. Forward passes that netted fifty yards gave Donahue a touchdown, while Milner annexed a second touchdown in this period with a short plunge following a series of consistent advances. With many of the regulars out of the league, Washington and Lee was checked for a short while in the period, but soon recovered. Milner scored a touchdown with a plunge through the line, and closed the game with his forty-yard dash. The score was 72 to 0. The playing of Shultz, Seary and Barrow featured the Wake Forest's line-up. Wake Forest's line-up: Seary, left half back, 1; Shultz, left end, 2; Barrow, right half back, 3; Milner, right half back, 4; Young, left half back, 5; Beuhring, right half back, 6; Trust, full back, 7; A.
